Aims

GASTROENTEROLOGY: Motor disorders of the esophagus, gastroesophageal reflux disease and its complications, gastritis and gastropathies, peptic ulcer disease. Maldigestion and malabsorption. Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis, celiac disease. Jaundice, cholelithiasis, viral hepatitis, chronic non-viral hepatitis, cirrhosis, portal hypertension. Hepatocellular carcinoma and cholangiocarcinoma.

ENDOCRINOLOGY: hypothalamic and pituitary disease; thyroid diseases, disorders of calcium and phosphorus metabolism and parathyroid diseases. Adrenal disease. Hypogonadism. Diabetes. Dyslipidemias. Gout. Obesity and underweight.

CLINICAL BIOCHEMISTRY : The goal of the course is to provide the students with the tools for the correct use of biochemical tests for the digestive and endocrine system diseases, the elements for the comprehension of their physio-pathologic basis and the definition of their indications and interpretation.

SURGERY SEMEIOTIC: Abdominal wall hernia. Esophageal cancer. Diaphragm disease and hiatal hernia. Gastric disease. Colon and rectum disease: megacolon, polyposis, diverticulosis, colon-rectum cancer. Anal disease: rectal prolapse, hemorrhoid, fissures, abscess. Biliary and pancreatic disease: gallbladder stones, cystic and solid tumors of the pancreas. Neuroendocrine tumor: carcinoid, gastrinoma, pancreatic endocrine tumors. Multiple endocrine neoplasia

Contents

The primary goal of the course is to provide students with the pathophysiologic basis to understand the clinical and surgical semeiotics and the physiopathology of the digestive and endocrine system in order to make correlations between the inner mechanisms of diseases and their clinical expression. The student will be able to interpret symptoms, signs and laboratory tests as well as radiologic and endoscopic findings. Clinical tools to understand concepts of organ-limited disease, system involvement or systemic disease will be provide.
