

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO-BICOCCA

COURSE SYLLABUS

Global Health and Equal Opportunities For Health

1920-2-I0101D117

Aims

Provide basic training on "Global health and equity in health". Providing knowledge, tools of analysis and intervention on "Global health and equity in health"

Contents

Inequalities in health and health care in an increasingly globalized world have gradually increased. The factors that determine the health of the population are to be found not only in medicine and health care, but in the socio-economic conditions in which people live

Detailed program

Definition a population health and identification of certain distal and proximal health causes in a national and international setting

Description of the historical evolution of different models of health systems with particular attention to the emergence of the concept of right to health and identification of the constituent elements of the main models of health organization and their correlation with patterns of welfare

Relationship between health and development and impact of globalization on health

Presentation of the framework for socio-demographic and legal immigration in Italy, the health rights of foreigners and transcultural aspects in assisting immigrants

Role of international cooperation in combating inequalities in health with particular focus on Africa

Role of the nursing profession in contrasting inequalities in health and in promoting public awareness on issues of global health and equity in health

Reflection on your personal contribution as a nurse practitioner at both national and international

Prerequisites

Teaching form

Lectures

Textbook and teaching resource

Semester

2 - 3 anno e L. Magistrale

Assessment method

Office hours
