2021-1-A5810019-A581001901-AL

Learning objectives

The course aims to provide students with knowledge of the main institutes of private law, through the study of the manual, the civil code and the main laws in the field.

The course also aims to stimulate the student's reasoning skills, therefore practical cases will be proposed and analysed in frontal lessons in order to develop cognitive skills of connection between the various institutions in order to argue the solutions proposed by the judgments.

Finally, the student will be stimulated to read directly the most important judgements dealing with the private matter in order to give a theoretical and not only theoretical approach to the subject.
