UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO-BICOCCA

COURSE SYLLABUS

Interprofessional Education (ipe) With Students of Healthcare Degree Courses

2021-3-H4102D063

Aims

- The student will explore the rationale for greater integration between professionals and inter-professional practice, linked to social and other drivers related to work contexts.

-The student will reflect on the characteristics and behaviours of the professional group to which he/she belongs, the key aspects of teamwork, communication, reflective practice.

- The student will understand key aspects of interprofessional collaboration.

Contents

This elective course allows students to experience a first exposure to teamwork through an "immersion" in interprofessional teams. It offers the opportunity to reflect with students from other disciplines on the integration of values, attitudes and skills for safe professional practice.

The course is based on the experience of other European Universities and the WHO guidelines (2010).

WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION, 2010. Framework for action on interprofessional education and collaborative practice. Geneva: WHO. Available from: https://www.who.int/hrh/resources/framework_action/en/.

Detailed program

Concepts and reasons for interprofessional education.

Effective interprofessional practice

Problems and barriers to interprofessioanl practice (stereotypes, perceptions, and other factors).

Teamworking and working partnerhip.

Communication, collaboration, reflective practice and specific professional attributes and behaviours.

Prerequisites

None required

Teaching form

Introduction (online or in-presence lesson).

Problem based learning and discussion.

Key concepts (online or in-presence lesson).

The course will use both English and Italian to encourage participation.

Textbook and teaching resource

Scientific literature indicated during lessons and activities.

Semester

Annual-to be defined

Assessment method

Student's contribution to discussion.

Office hours

Email to : enrica.capitoni@unimib.it to fix appointment.