Course title

Play in Education: theories and methodologies

Topics and course structure

This course aims to investigate the symbolic role of play for every human being, with a specific focus on childhood.

Objectives

The course aims to involve students in the understanding the importance of playing in educational contexts.

The course aims to develop in students applying knowledge and understanding about:

- theories and methodologies for playing education;
- theories and methodologies for Game Studies;
- active, participatory and experiential methodologies in playing education.

In general the course aim is to enrich, problematize and balance the contemporary educational culture of play and wide the collective imagination through which teachers and educators tend to interpret and practice the phenomenon of play.

Methodologies

In the Covid-19 emergency period the lessons will be held remotely mainly in synchronous mode, with some lessons recorded and published in asynchronous mode. All teaching materials will be uploaded to the e-learning platform.

Classroom lectures, exercises also with symbolic material from artworks (cinema, poetry, literature, music and painting).

Assessment methods

In the Covid-19 emergency period, oral exams will be carried out using the WEBEX platform (<https://unimib.webex.com/meet/francesca.antonacci>).

The exam relies on a oral interview evaluating knowledge and critical understanding of the topics addressed in the course and related bibliography.

The questions concern:

- topics analyzed during the course (only for attending students);

- re-elaboration of the exercises implemented during the course (only for attending students);
- books in references.

During the exam will be evaluated:

- level of knowledge about the theories and methodologies (knowledge);
- ability to exemplify concepts (understanding);
- capacity for use and application (applying knowledge and understanding);
- adequacy of language.
