

UNIVERSITÀ DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO-BICOCCA

SYLLABUS DEL CORSO

Economia delle Risorse Umane (blended)

2021-3-E3301M199

Learning objectives
The course aims at providing the knowledge human resources.

Contents

The course aims to provide the tools needed for an economic analysis of human resources, from both the theoretical and the empirical viewpoint. The programme covers the following topics: the labour market; optimal decisions regarding the types of workers to be hired and about terminating an employment relationship; and the issues of personnel recruitment and incentives policies.

Detailed program

Labor markets: labor supply, labor demand and labor market equilibrium

Unions, collective bargaining and employment protection

Inequality and poverty

Hiring, signalling, and skills
Investment in skills and human capital
Incentive contracts
Prerequisites
Students are required to know the fundamental features of microeconomic analysis
Teaching methods
The course will be in blended elearning
Assessment methods
Assessment metrous
The exam is written only (consisting of an open ended questions) and lasts 1 hour.
Touth a also and Deading Materials
Textbooks and Reading Materials
Brucchi Luchino "Manuale di economia del lavoro", Il Mulino
Semester
Second term
Teaching language
Italian

Optimal occupational level