

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO-BICOCCA

SYLLABUS DEL CORSO

Inflammatory Bowel Diseases (mici)

2122-3-H4102D096

Aims

Acquiring a deep insight into symptoms, natural history and complication on IBD with particular focus on diagnostic modalities, differential diagnosis and therapeutic strategies.

Contents

The course is focused on the diagnosis and therapeutic management of patients with inflammatory bowel disease. The students will be exposed to a variety of expertise in an interactive format. There will be experts in the field of basic science, clinical management, radiology, GI endoscopy, bowel pathology focused on ulcerative colitis and Crohn's disease.

Detailed program

Crohn's disease

Ulcerative Cholitis

Prerequisites

From the 4th year of the course of Medicine and Surgery

Teaching form

Frontal lectures

Textbook and teaching resource

Manuale di Gastroenterologia UNIGASTRO – Edizione 2013-2015

Gastrointestinal and liver disease – Sleisenger and Fordtran

Semester

Assessment method

Contribution to discussion

Office hours

Appointment by email (marco.carbone@unimib.it)
