

UNIVERSITÀ DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO-BICOCCA

COURSE SYLLABUS

Financial Markets Law

2122-2-F1601M058

Learning objectives

The main objective of the course is to provide specific training on the forms of regulation and supervision (subjects, activity, and markets), with reference to Italian and European juridical contests. The course will analyze also the Innovation Technology of the financial sector (FinTech).

Contents

The course aims to examine the regulation of the financial sector, with particular attention to aspects of public regulation and supervision. The course will also seek to highlight the criticality of the system especially in light of the current technological innovation.

Detailed program

- History of Italian and European financial market;
- Tecnology Innovation and Financial Market (Fintech)
- Financial market supervisory system (____

- Public offering;
- Equity crowdfunding;
- Crypto-assets.
Prerequisites
Teaching methods
Lectures
Assessment methods
For attenders a written assessment based on the lecturers; For not attendees students an oral or written assessment based on the advised main references.
The evaluation is based on the program's issues, legal language, and critical approach.
Textbooks and Reading Materials
F. Annunziata, La disciplina del mercato mobiliare, Torino, ult. ed.
M.T. Paracampo, Fintech: introduzione ai profili giuridici di un mercato unico tecnologico dei servizi finanziari, Torino, ult. ed.

Financial services;

- Institutional investors;

Market regulation;

Semester

First Semester

- dealing on own account and HFT;

- robo-advice;

Teaching language

Italian