COURSE SYLLABUS

Pedagogy of Communication

2122-3-E2001R063

Course title

What does it communicate?

Pedagogical reflections for a communication as a poetic resonance

New and old scenarios for communication and social interaction

Topics and course structure

The course will analyze themes and methods of pedagogical research by promoting research and reflexivity skills in students as necessary conditions so that the experience (educational, cultural) can be transformed into knowledge, taking it as an object of reflection.

We will choose and focus on issues of daily life, related to news events or educational emergencies and we will proceed to analyze the aspects, perspectives and different dimensions of each item of research

The course will develop and promote the theoretical illustration and practical experimentation of some dimensions of pedagogical and cultural research, such as:

- Research position

- Research question

- Research design

- Quantitative methods

- Qualitative methods

- Mixed method

- Survey

- Interview

-Data analysis
