

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO-BICOCCA

COURSE SYLLABUS

Professional Training in Clinical Surgery

2223-6-H4101D336-H4101D225M

Aims

Goals of Internship are the presentation and the study of clinical cases, using the acquired knowledge, in a holistic context of the patient; resolution of diagnostic and therapeutic problems.

Contents

During the Internship the student must acquire adequate professional preparation in the field of pathology internist and its sub-sectors with particular regard to differential diagnosis and the setting of appropriate therapeutic pathways.

Detailed program

Diagnostic principles and therapeutic approach of 1) colorectal diseases (including neoplastic disease, inflammatory disease, acute diverticulitis, etc.), 2) hepatobiliary diseases (neoplasms, cirrhosis etc.), 3) pancreatic diseases (solid and cystic neoplasms, acute and chronic pancreatitis), 4) gastroenterological diseases (peptic ulcer disease, neoplasms, hiatal hernia, GERD, etc.), 5) emergency surgery (acute appendicitis, bowel perforation/ischemia, bowel obstruction, peritonitis, trauma)

Prerequisites

Knowledge of the introductory courses indicated in the degree course regulations.

Teaching form

Internship

Subject to any changes following the COVID pandemic situation.

Textbook and teaching resource

Sabiston's Textbook of Surgery

Semester

Sixth year

Assessment method

The preparation of the student is evaluated in itinere by the tutor.

Office hours

On appointment.

Sustainable Development Goals

GOOD HEALTH AND WELL-BEING
