Learning objectives

Knowledge and understanding

The course aims to help students to strengthen grammar, vocabulary and listening at intermediate/upper-intermediate level (B1 /B2 The CEFR) through the development of the four skills - speaking, reading, writing and listening – using English in a range of real communicative situations.

Applying knowledge and understanding

The course also aims to improve the knowledge and understanding of English language in order to allow students to acquire practical reading and speaking skills, to learn to read, understand and produce texts about social and cultural themes relating in particular to communication, business organizations, society, labour market.

Contents

During the course we will focus on the following issues:

Globalization and global markets – Business organizations – Economics and society - Happynomics – Ethics - Leadership, management and motivation – Brands, marketing and competition – Business strategy - Training and development - Labour market and job opportunities - Corporate Culture - Cultural awareness - Entrepreneurs - Business and sustainability

Detailed program

The course will focus on the analysis of language, grammar and syntax and on the reading and examination of specific texts, about English language as an international communication tool, as well as about multicultural business contexts and their policies. The centre of the course will be the understanding and analysis of specific economic and socio-cultural texts and the acquisition of sectorial vocabulary related to the following topics: labour market and education, types of business organizations, management of human resources, marketing, entrepreneurship, sustainability, ethics, the role of the human being as an active citizen, happiness as the science of the relationship between economics and social satisfaction.

Prerequisites

Knowledge of English Language B1 level.

Teaching methods

Two kinds of methodologies will be used: PPP – Presentation, Practice, Production - and skill-based lessons, with pre-, while- and post- reading/listening activities.

Assessment methods

Assessment of students' skills in English is through a written test, a project work and an oral test (the oral exam is not compulsory).

The written test consists in a test with questions related to the course and a reading comprehension divided into 3 sections: Section A - consists in an exercise with some relevant words taken from the text to be matched with the related synonyms; section B - consists in some sentences to be completed with an appropriate word so that the sentences reflect the same meaning as in the text and are grammatically correct (fill-in the gap exercise); section C - consists in some sentences to be marked as True or False.

Students will be also engaged in the development of a project work (basically a video) to be submitted according to the instructions given at the beginning of the course.

For the oral exam, which is not compulsory, the students will be asked to talk about the main themes of the course in English, connecting them to the labour market and their personal experiences. This is helpful for students who wants to improve their final mark.
