SYLLABUS DEL CORSO

Diritto degli Scambi Internazionali - 2

2223-3-E1801M045-E1801M064M-T2

Learning objectives

The course aims at providing students with a basic knowledge of the legal structure of the multilateral trading system, of the main principles governing the International markets of goods and services and of international investment law.

Contents

The course provides students with an introduction to the multilateral trading system. Study will focus on trade agreements administered by the World Trade Organization. Its evolution will be exposed, together with its basic principles and rules relating to the markets of goods, services and intellectual property rights. Particular attention will be placed in dealing with the relationship between the liberalization of trade and services' flows and the policy space maintained by WTO's Member States to pursue non trade values such as human rights, social rights, the environment, public health and development. An overview of the WTO's dispute settlement mechanism will allow students to assess how effective the system can be deemed. A discussion on the impact of the present COVID-19 and of the 2007-2008 financial crisis on trade and on the capacity of the WTO system to restrain the raise of protectionism will introduce a final reflection on the future of the Organization, which appears challenged by the ever more frequent turn of its Members towards the conclusion of regional and preferential agreements and by the hostility of the Trump Administration towards multilateralism.
