2223-2-F7601M059

Learning objectives

The course of German for the Science of Tourism consists of the following modules:

1. German for tourism: 6 credit points
2. German culture: 4 credit points

German language (6 credit points): development and consolidation of language skills in the four language activities as specified in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages: writing, reading, listening comprehension and oral production. Consolidation of communication and intercultural skills necessary to pursue a career in the tourism industry.

German Culture (4 credit points): multi- and intercultural aspects with reference to language, society, culture and economy of the German speaking countries will be approached using a diachronic and synchronic key

Contents

The course offers a wide range of readings, exercises, grammar and communicative activities to achieve the linguistic proficiency necessary for future work in the field. A thorough investigation of issues related to language, culture, thought, society and the economy; drawing on historical, literary, economic and social sources as a means to better know and understand the various aspects of tourism communication.

Detailed program

The course is divided into two modules and aims to provide the students with the language, cultural and inter-/intracultural skills needed to operate in the global world of both incoming and outgoing tourism. This course is structured in such a way as to provide the theoretical and practical tools for the preparation of those who intend to work in the multifaceted field of tourism. The main objective is to improve the student's use of German strengthening the sector-specific vocabulary and communication strategies that facilitate communication with German speaking customers in many diverse situations. Much weight is given to listening and to oral comprehension of German in order to stimulate conversation by simulating real-life situations of every day professional life, gradually improving oral production through the proper use of vocabulary and focusing on pronunciation accuracy

Prerequisites

Level B1 Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).
