Course title

The loneliness of the organizational subject

Topics and course structure

In the first part of the course, we will consider the main aspects and the most important issues of adult education in our contemporaneity.

In the second part, we will try to focus attention on the experience of loneliness in the workplace trying to understand the various and different reasons, also in the light of globalization processes.

Furthermore, the possible loneliness linked to smart working and that connected to the condition in which the individual is relegated, whose thinking distances himself from the prevailing thinking (?) Standardization inherent in the organization, will also be problematized.

Objectives

With this teaching, with a constant and participatory attendance to the lessons and to the laboratory connected to the course, we intend to promote the following learning:

- Knowledge and understanding: of the main issues of adult education (EDA) and its possible drifts inside and outside the organization;
- Ability to relate differentiated knowledge and models: concerning age, adult identity and professional role in today's organizations, with particular reference to the different interpretations of the condition and experience of loneliness of the organizational subject;
- Ability to read current organizational contexts and to implement narrative / self-reflective training interventions, through direct experimentation in a small group of narrative and writing practices of professional experience.
