Learning objectives

The aim of the course of "English for Economics and Business" is to explore the economic and financial identity of Italy today by using articles taken from the British and American Press. The main goal is to help students become independent readers of articles in English, thus consolidating the language skills they when studying other subjects, carrying out research and functioning in the working world.

Contents

In its exploration of the economic and financial identity of Italy today, the course proposes to read and analyse articles from the British and American press, such as "The Financial Times, The Times, The Economist, The Telegraph, The Guardian, Washington Post, New York Times, Huffington Post."

Detailed program

The programme covers the recent Italian economic and financial history through the protagonists and companies which have contributed to making Italy what it is today.

The articles are selected for the pertinence of their analyses and comments on various sectors of the Italian microeconomy, like telecommunications, the car industry, clusters, fashion, the great Italian dynasties, the banking system and marketing.
