UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO-BICOCCA

COURSE SYLLABUS

Biomedical English

2324-2-H4601D034

Aims

Aims are understanding, writing and commenting reports on biomedical subjects, using the correct rules of grammar, syntax and proper techincal language.

Contents

English grammar and vocabulary (basic); exploration of biomedical terms; biomedical issues in report and papers; biomedical search engines and English language databases

Detailed program

The on line course presents dialogues on biomedical subjects, with specialized language. The student can use on line medical dictionary and directions to understand the conversations. The student should know the English language in order to write, read, understand and edit scientific articles correctly. The student should know how to use data bases and search engines and how to organize a scientific article.

Prerequisites

Knowledge of English language at B2 level or higher

Teaching form

Personal study

Textbook and teaching resource

Compulsory on line course

Semester

//

Assessment method

On-line test made by different sections:

- listening and comprehension
- grammar
- vocabulary
- reading and comprehension
  The possible results are: passed or not passed with a 6/10 threshold.

Office hours

By appointement required by mail: inglese.medicina@unimib.it

Sustainable Development Goals

REDUCED INEQUALITIES