

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO-BICOCCA

COURSE SYLLABUS

Anthropology

2425-1-I0101D007-I0101D022M

Aims

The course aims to provide students with the theoretical knowledge concerning anthropological elements of nursing profession in order to help them to adequately perceive their professional role in a complex context of networks and relationship, in a storical-antropological perspective and understand psychological and social mechanisms of uman behaviour.

Contents

Topic of the Human Sciences course is to give students an overview of the anthropological aspects of health care professions.

Detailed program

Medical anthropology, human health and disease; social processes and cultural representations of health, illness and related nursing/care practices; Disease, Illness and Sickness; narrative medicine: general principles; popular medicine and health anthropology in the developing countries.

Prerequisites

Teaching form

Lectures, small group activities with final written report.

Textbook and teaching resource

Pizza G., Antropologia medica. Saperi, pratiche e politiche del corpo. Carocci ed.; Fainzang S., Farmaci e società. Il paziente, il medico e la ricetta. Franco Angeli ed.; Quaranta I. (a cura di) Antropologia medica. I testi fondamentali, Raffaello Cortina Ed.

Semester

First semester

Assessment method

Office hours

On appointment

Sustainable Development Goals

GOOD HEALTH AND WELL-BEING
