Learning objectives

English Language for Business Management course aims at building on the already-existing knowledge of English to develop the further skills needed to use English in the job market.

By the end of the course, students will need to demonstrate their knowledge of general English (at least B2 level), their acquisition of business-related vocabulary and their awareness about the topics analysed through readings and texts.

Contents

The course revolves around twelve topics that are analysed during the lessons with the purpose of enhancing listening, reading and speaking skills. The topics are chosen based on the most relevant trends in corporate and business, with a focus on communicative language.

Detailed program

The course aims at presenting the following topics by analysing the language as for grammar and vocabulary and communication skills (functional and communicative language):

1. Corporate culture
2. Training and development
3. Finance
4. Digital business
5. Performance
6. Ethics

7. Time management
8. Embracing changes
9. Market research
10. Sustainability
11. Global mobility and international careers

Readings will be assigned on:

- Female entrepreneurship
- AI and business
- International sport event and their economic impact
- Climate benefit

Prerequisites

To attend this course, a minimum B1 level is required, which will be tested through the grammar questions in the exam paper (see "Assessment methods")

It is strongly advisable to attend Linguistic experts' courses to strengthen language skills to reach at least a full B1 level.

Teaching methods

The course is composed of twelve topics that are presented during the lessons to enhance listening, reading and speaking skills.

The 42-hour course will be divided approximately in two parts: 50% of the hours devoted to teacher-centred lessons (didattica erogativa) with slides and videos and the remaining 50% devoted to student-centred lessons (didattica integrativa) with Interactive tasks requiring the active participation by students.

The professor reserves the right to adjust this time allocation according to students' specific learning needs.

Assessment methods

The exam is computer-based and takes place in the laboratories.

The exam (see "Detailed program"), which last 90 minutes, checks the knowledge of the course materials (See Section 3).

During the exam, candidates are required to complete several tasks, such as:

- grammar-related questions
- fill-in-the-gap exercises (options given)
- reading and comprehension
- business-related vocabulary exercises
- open question (to be replied in max 200 words)

The mark obtained in the exam is expressed out of 30.
