Teaching methods

72 hours of face-to-face lectures in which the first part is structured on theories and the second part is delivered through interaction with the class based on case analysis and discussions. Learning materials will be delivered through the course online platform.

Lesson attendance is strongly recommended to facilitate the gradual learning through interaction between students and the instructor.

Assessment methods

General exam.

The assessment requires a written plus an oral exam (optional). The written exam includes multiple-choice questions, exercises, and open questions. The student can register the mark or apply for an oral exam only if a score of 18/30 is achieved in the written exam. The oral exam is based on the whole programme.

Written exam.

The written exam includes multiple-choice questions, exercises, and open questions. The multiple-choice questions are aimed at assessing the student's systematic knowledge of the basic course contents, the numerical exercises are aimed at ascertaining the student's ability to use data taken from practical cases while the open questions assess the student's autonomous ability to rework concepts on specific topics.

Attendance option (optional)

During the course, two written tests (weight: 90%) will take place (November, January) and a team work on a real life case (weight: 10%). Team composition (maximum 5 members) is on a voluntary basis. A positive assessment allows students to register the final mark or to go directly to the oral exam (optional). The oral exam is based on the whole programme and can be taken only if a score of at least 18/30 is achieved in the two written tests.
