Learning objectives

The aim of the course is to explain the topic of organizational design, by focusing on the role of human capital for the development of the institutions, such as private, public and non-profit organizations.

Contents

After recalling the topic of organizational needs and the main management tools, a particular attention will be brought to the interpretative models of the dynamics of human capital within organizations, and specifically services' providers. International researches, national experiences and business cases will be used for training support. Attention will be dedicated to show the main human capital management policies, processes and practices.

Detailed program

The course alternates between lectures, case histories and evidences, and the topics treated are as follows:

- From human capital to strategic human resource management
- Actor behavior
- Value cycle of human resource
- People and human resource planning

- Recruiting and human resource selection
- Management of the psychological contract
- Training and human resource development systems
- Reward systems and human capital enhancement

Prerequisites

Fairly good skills in learning, writing and speaking, together with a general knowledge about the economic processes.

Teaching methods

The Course consists of 48 hours, of which approximately 50% will be delivered through didactic delivery (lectures with the use of slides, audio and video) and 50% through interactive teaching (exercises, group work, project work and company testimonials). Four 2-hour lectures will be conducted in interactive mode remotely.

Assessment methods

Written test + project work

The written examination includes CLOSED ANSWER TESTS (multiple choice) and OPEN QUESTIONS. The written test assesses the knowledge acquired during the course and the ability to reflect independently on critical points of the programme. The project work assesses the ability to apply the knowledge and tools learnt during the course to the analysis of a real context.
