Learning area

Models and techniques for assessing psychological functioning

Learning objectives

Knowledge and understanding

- The Infant Research intersubjective perspective and the systemic model of interaction;
- The Stern's micro-analytic interview as an instrument to explore, in clinical and educational areas, relational schemes of "being with" the Other.

Applying knowledge and understanding

- Experiencing the micro-analytic interview conduction, focusing on the content and the interactive process;
- Analyzing personal experience and highlighting the "dominant theme" or the schemes of "being with" that characterizes the explored moment by the interview.
