Course title

Institutions of Educational Law

Topics and course structure

The first part of the course shows the fundamental tools for the analysis and application of law in schools. The second part, through the relationship between history, society, legislation, analyzes the fundamental stages, starting with the Casati Law, which marked the arrival of school autonomy and the inclusive paradigm. The third part of the course analyzes the current legislation, with reference to specific educational law institutes.

First part: institutions of law and peculiarities of education law

- The law. What, how, why
- Institutions and legal systems
- The sources of law
- Administration and politics

Second part: the evolution of the school system towards autonomy, verticalization, inclusion

- The Casati law and the pyramid structure of the Italian school.
- The Gentile reform and Bottai's innovations
- The school of reconstruction and law n.1859 of 31 December 1962
- The change of the 70s. The Falcucci document (1974) and its impact on paradigms, school curricula, evaluation
- The reforms of the third millennium

Third part: educational institutions and the role of rules for the construction of the educating community and learning environments.

- School Constitution

- School autonomy
- The school community. The legal status of school personnel. The role of families. The students' statute
- The current didactic systems: the organisation of the first cycle of education, national indications, evaluation
- The inclusive perspective
- The regulations concerning special educational needs (students with disabilities, with specific developmental disorders, with economic, linguistic, cultural disadvantage)

Objectives

At the end of the course, the student has:

- a sound knowledge of the tools of analysis and application of law in the school environment
- awareness of the "ratio legis" of the measures, their cultural substratum and the historical development of the structure of primary and childhood schools and inclusive institutions
- knowledge of the teaching systems of the integrated system 0-6 years and of the first cycle of education (organization, teaching disciplines, national indications)
- the skills related to the proper exercise of the profession of primary and infant school teacher
- the ability to actively intervene in the collegial bodies in the light of the possibilities offered by the legislation and the corresponding constraints.

Regarding to the regulations and the Tuning Matrix, with reference to the Dublin descriptors, the course pursues the following learning objectives:

Making judgements

- awareness of the ethical and cultural responsibility associated with the exercise of the teaching function and assumption of the consequent duties towards the students, their families, the school institution, the territory
- Aptitude to formulate judgment on educational situations and events after having obtained accurate documentation

Communication Skills

- the ability to communicate with colleagues within the collegial bodies, to interact with the school principal and the operators of territorial services for information exchange, project development, and coordinated management of training processes

Applying knowledge and understanding

- ability to identify and define the educational priorities of pre primary, primary and secondary school (Isced 0, I and II), to link their curricula through adequate progression of learning and to coordinate educational and extra-curricular opportunities

Learning skills

- interest in teaching profession and desire to improve knowledge and practice

Methodologies

Lectures (24 hours), Interactive teaching (4 hours): case history.

Assessment methods

General rule: anyone with problems should contact the teacher. On learning there is no compromise, on the rest there are solutions.

Oral exam, concerning one or more topics: generally, a question on the institutions of law, one on the historical part of the law, one on current legislation. The teacher reserves the right to conclude the exam in response to particularly exhaustive answers or in the face of gaps in fundamental areas of the discipline.

Evaluation criteria. The accuracy, completeness of the answers, the ability to relate the norm to concrete cases and the historical substrate, the correctness of the Italian language are evaluated. The teacher reserves the right to conclude the exam in the face of particularly comprehensive answers or in the face of gaps on the fundamental nuclei of the discipline. Working students (also referred to as 'non-traditional' students). In order to meet the needs of working students

1. upon indication of working status, video recordings of lessons just held are released;
2. examination sessions are scheduled on Saturdays, especially in order to guarantee teaching continuity at the educational institutions of the grades concerned by the course
3. particular examination times are agreed with the teacher.

Students on maternity leave (also referred to as 'non-traditional' students, too). In order to meet the needs of students on maternity leave,

4. they may attend classes or exams, whether with a baby bump or a newborn baby;
5. particular examination times are agreed with the teacher.

Erasmus students. Although this course is held in Italian, Erasmus students can take the exam in English if they wish to do so, but they should previously contact prof. Bruschi by email

Students wishing to biennialise the examination*, in particular thesis students: the bibliography must be agreed with the teacher...

Office hours

After lesson, or on appointment by e-mail

Programme validity

Two academic years, except for regulatory changes that have an impact on teaching, which are subject to updating by the teacher and verification during the exam
