SYLLABUS DEL CORSO

Anatomia, Istologia ed Embriologia Generali e dell'Apparato Stomatognatico

2526-1-H4602D001

Aims

The student must have a general knowledge of cell structure and tissues, as well as a detailed knowledge of the normal anatomy of all the organs and structures that constitute the systems of the human body.

Contents

The course aims to provide students with theoretical knowledge to learn the macroscopic and microscopic organization of the organs and structures of the human body, their embryonic development and the pathological changes occurring in diseases.

Detailed program

Semester

2nd term of the 1st year

Assessment method

Student learning will be assessed through a final exam administered at the end of the semester. The exam will include a comprehensive test covering key topics in Cytology, Histology, and General Anatomy, with the exception of the Peripheral Nervous System.

The exam will have 45 multiple choice questions and an open-ended question on head and neck region. The open question is worth up to 5 points; for multiple choice questions, each correct answer is worth 0,6 points, each wrong answer or no date is worth 0 points, except for the question on the dental histology, for which wrong answer or no date worth -1 point. The test is overcome with a minimum score of 18/30, which gives access to the assessment of the knowledge of microscopic anatomy, by the identification of a histological slide, with a score ranging from -2 to +2 points.

Office hours

Mon-Fri, by appointment
