

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO-BICOCCA

SYLLABUS DEL CORSO

Neuropsichiatria Infantile - 1

2627-3-I0102D904-I0102D918M-T1

Aims

To provide a basic understanding of neuropsychomotor development from the foetal stage through to infancy and early childhood, and its main abnormalities

Contents

The stages of sensory and motor development in the foetus and newborn.
The main neuropsychiatric developmental disorders.

Detailed program

- Overview of Child Neuropsychiatry: the concepts of epigenesis and neoteny
- Sensory and motor development from the foetus to the newborn
- Normal and abnormal neuropsychomotor development in the newborn and during the early years of life.
- Preterm infants: characteristics.
- Major and minor neuropsychiatric outcomes of preterm birth.
- Cerebral palsy in children
- Obstetric paralysis
- Neurodevelopmental disorders

Prerequisites

None.

Teaching form

Textbook and teaching resource

Slides and articles

Further study texts:

BRAZELTON T. BERRY, Il bambino da 0 a 3 anni. Guida allo sviluppo fisico, emotivo e comportamentale del bambino, Rizzoli, 9° ed, 2017.

MILITERNI R. Neuropsichiatria infantile Ed Idelson-Gnocchi

Semester

I semester.

Assessment method

Office hours

On appointment.

Sustainable Development Goals

GOOD HEALTH AND WELL-BEING
